Death AND Taxes

There are 1,743,000 taxpayers who earn over $5000.

There are 20,211,000 taxpayers who earn between $2000 and

BUT there are 25,691,000 who earn LESS than $2000 a year. In other words, more than half (54 per cent) earn under $2000. HR-1, the House-passed "tax reduction" bill, throws a little sop to the low-income group, but gives the gravy to those in the top income brackets least in need of tax relief.

Labor economists propose an increase in personal exemptions to $3500 for a family of four, instead of the present $2000; that corporate taxes be maintained at the present rate of 38 per cent, with a graduated tax on corporations earning less than $25,000 starting at 10 per cent on the first $5000 of income and reaching 38 per cent on all income above $25,000; increasing the capital gains levy to at least 50 per cent and placing of a federal tax on all securities now exempted. Enactment of these changes, it is pointed out, would increase federal revenue by $200 million while at the same time easing the burden on low-income families and small businesses.

report said during the year "there was a shift in the purchase of U.S. government series E bonds from the lower to the higher denominations, suggesting that low income groups are now much less important in the market for savings bonds than during the war.

"Redemptions of series E bonds outstripped purchases in 1946, resulting in a net decline of $500 million in the amount outstanding." At the same time consumers were killing their savings through use of short-term credit, which rose $2.4 billion in 1946 over 1945, particularly by opening charge accounts and borrowing money on a singlepayment basis.

"Savings out of current income are estimated to have declined still further in the first quarter of 1047. the review said, "because of additional price rises and the continued expansion of consumer debt.'

Chairman of the House Labor Committee, Rep. Fred A. Hart-ley (R, N. J.) bears major responsibility for the vicious union-smashing bill that would wreck the labor movement. Long an enemy of labor, Hartley has led the fight to strip workers of their hard won rights .- (Federated Pictures.)

while we are trying to run the world, there are a few things to watch at home. Recently he warned that prices had to come down to avert "this economic cloudburst."

The labor papers have been telling workers for a long time some of the economic facts of life, but few paid any attention. At long last some of these facts are being voiced by the President. Here are some of 'em: 1946 corporate profits (after taxes) were 33 per cent higher running even higher. House furnishings are up 23 per cent above the 1945 average. Clothing has gone up 24 per than in 1945, and in the first quarter of this year they are

Food has risen 31 per cent. Wholesale prices (even more dangerous) have gone up 39 per cent in textiles, 40 per cent in farm products, 51 per cent in building materials, 53 per cent in food.

Because of over-inflated prices, millions of families have been spending their savings and cashing their war honds, postponed medical care, gone into debt 50 per cent more than a year agoand they are doing all this, not through choice, but to make ends meet.

Well, now we have some the facts straight from the White House. That makes it official. What is Congress going to do about it when the present phoney talk about "voluntary price reduction" peters out?

Calif. Labor Facts

Here are interesting facts about the Department of Industrial Relations, as recorded in the report for the Governor's Council for the month of April: California ranked seventh among the states in the number of work stoppages beginning in 1946. Workers involved in disputes numbered 258,000.

A million more Californians now hold jobs than were employed at this same time seven years ago. Civilians currently at work in the state are in excess of 31/2 million.

In January of this year there were 11,620 disabling accidents reported, with 60 fatalities. 10,487 were men and 1133 were women. During March 566 complaints charging employers with failure to carry workmen's compensation inurance were filed. California is the leading state in the number of apprentices—there were 20,991 registered apprentices in the state at the end of January. It has nearly 2½ times the apprentices of the runner-up state, Michi-

During March, the Division of Industrial Welfare found several violations of state labor law: 16 on wages; 205 in records; 77 on hours; 383 in working conditions. Complaints of labor law violation are 147.35 in unpaid wages was recovered. Some 54 criminal prosecutions were started. Five of the cases concluded in March were actions brought against labor contractors or private employment agencies for operating contrary to law. Child labor violations are generally on the decrease. A recent survey of 75 California union contracts covering employes in retail trade establishments reveals that 70 agreements, or more than 90 per cent, allowed a maximum of 2 weeks vacation with pay.

Jobs Declining For Handicapped

Washington, D. C. Job opportunities for handicapped workers are decreasing from the wartime peak despite more general acceptance of their abilities. Because of the drop, intensified Federal wage and hour enforcement activities are necessary to protect the interest of both labor and management as handicapped workers return to jobs in charitable nonprofit "sheltered workshops."

THE NAM'S LIE-FACTORY

With millions of dollars to spend to bamboozle the public, the National Association of Manufacturers has been placing large advertisements in the daily press for the home team. "proving" that even unionists are "5 to 1" against the leader for his signal. Then when it closed shop. The NAM says this was revealed in a nationwide poll, but it does not say who conducted the the college yell: poll, when it was taken, or how the questions were worded.

In the first place, practically all union contracts that we know anything about are approved by membership vote. If a contract provides for the closed shop and that put a letter in every house in the contract is approved by the majority of the members, avenue. Real letters, too. I found then how is it possible for the members to be "5 to 1" a big bundle of them in your against it? The answer is that it can't be. The other answer is that the NAM lies, and they know that we DOMESTIC SCENE know that they lie.

All this talk about the closed shop being undemocratic, "un-American," "dictatorial," etc. is just so much propaganda hogwash. Decisions made by majority vote of those concerned constitute the very foundation of the American democratic tradition. That principle operates in all our federal, state, county and municipal elections—even when the vote is 51 per cent ice!" to 49 per cent. If Hank Jones is elected sheriff by 51 per cent of the vote as against 49 per cent of the vote for A teacher was per cent of the vote as against 49 per cent of the vote for A teacher was explaining the Sam Smith, does the 49 per cent denounce the result meaning of the word "collision." as dictatorial and consider the result "dictatorial" and "A collision," she said, "is when, a violation of the "right to vote"? Of course not. Anybody who suggested such a thing would be considered of a collision?" a likely prospect for a lunatic asylum.

But when a majority of employees in a factory, through their union, back the closed shop and the employer signs a closed shop contract, and the minority ployer signs a closed shop contract, and the minority Russian geography, and the teacher has often been described as our has to go along with the majority decision—this, according to the NAM, is awful. Actually the NAM mountain ranges in that country. the war is largely attributable to doesn't think any such thing—it is simply against the one student named the Carpathithe research work of this great socialized institution. very principle of collective bargaining. So it resorts to forthcoming. Finally the teacher this type of lying propaganda with the hope that it will called on a pretty but not too this story than Harding, for he and volcanic mountains, and the confuse enough morons.

Church School TO RECORD

Washington, D. C. Strong opposition to proposals to use federal tax funds to support church or parochial schools was voiced before the Senate Labor and Public Welfare subcommittee by representatives of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and the Scottish Rite Masons.

Mrs. Stanley Cook of Indian Point, Md., legislative chairman of doubtedly greater than for any previous year. the national PTA organization, and Elmer E. Rogers, assistant to Sovereign Grand Commander John R. Cowles of the Masonic order's supreme council, testified in opposition to the aid to non-public schools in the two pending bills.

Sen. George Aiken (R, Vt.) chairman of the subcommittee, introduced S. 199, while Sen. Robert A. Taft (R, O.) offered S. 472. CLAIMS 4 MILLION

Mrs. Cook said her organization is composed of more than 4 million men and women in 27,000 local associations and fully supports plans to increase federal expenditures for education to equalize opportunity among the several states according to needs

She added that "we support the principle that any such funds appropriated by the federal government should go to public, tax-supported schools only," and would back Taft's bill if the offending section were eliminated. She argued Telegraphers Cancel Large Dieister that the private school "promotes religion and ideology and funds Strike After Boost given it benefit not only the pupil, but also the school itself and I think that is contrary to the first amendment.

San Francisco, Calif. Construction contracts in California for the year of 1946 reached a record-breaking peak estimated at nearly 11/2 billion dollars, as announced by A. Earl Washburn, State Director of Reconstruction and Reemployment, in releasing a report compiled by the technical staff of the State Reconstruction and Reemployment Commission. The U.S. Department of Commerce estimated that there was 1.2 billion dollars in private construction in the state in 1946, and to this was added another 255 million dollars in public works for which contracts were actually awarded during the year.

Despite reduced buying power of the construction dollar, the volume of work placed under contract in California during 1946 was un-

Employment in construction in the state increased steadily most of 1946 and reached a peacetime peak of about 185,000 in October. The report explains that because of higher postwar construction costs and the longer time required to complete work, the employment rise has not been as great in comparison with prewar levels as the

The widespread use of cheap electric power has contributed much to the national leadership now held by California agriculture in crop diversity and production. Electric-powered pumps irrigate the lands to bring higher yields and crop frequency. Electric-driven mechanical helpers offer the farmer speed and economy in performing his farm chores. And in the farm home, electric appliances provide all the conveniences and comfort of urban living.

Early in 1946 a new trolley-bus appeared in Moscow. The new buses have more headroom and are provided with electric radiators. The chief engineer of the factory producing these buses said he thought they were as well-appointed and as handsome, if not better, than the late models of U.S. trolley buses of which he had been shown photographs. Last year 75 were turned out and 350 are planned for 1947.
